TORONTO 1914-2014
CELEBRATING 100 YEARS

2014 – Old Mill Toronto Celebrates our 100th Year Anniversary!

We are rich in charm and history. The Humber River and Valley have long been a part of Canadian Heritage being discovered by Etienne Brule in 1615. The King's Mill was built along the river banks in 1793 to process lumber for the proposed town of York. The new grist mill was built in 1834 and again in 1881 having been destroyed by fire. On the first day of WW1 in 1914, Robert Home Smith opened up the Old Mill Tea Garden with the "ruins" as the focal point of the lavish gardens. In 2001, those "ruins" were transformed into our boutique hotel and SPA, the latest addition to Toronto's landmark restaurant, banquet facilities and entertainment venue. We welcome many more years of memories to come!
